And yet this is the exact condition of the American body politic at the present day. it has been sick and growing worse for years, and yet our political physicians would hear of but one remedy; even now, when the patient is in extremes, they insist upon its apelication. "It is pulpable, and to our mind it has been all along, that the people of this country who were not at heart desirous of trouble, were wasting their energies in an attempt to elect either Douglas or Breckinridge to the Presidency. No such event is within the range of possibilities. The agencies that bring the country into trouble are not to be relied on to extrivate it. The North is Republican, and can only be carried for the Constitution by winning back the many patriotic citizens who committed the mistake of going into that organization. Many act with it without sympathy for its anti-slavery views, but simply because they hate Democracy and have nowhere else to go; while thousands, unable to associate with any existing party conscientiously, have retired to Franks. their homes and kept aloof from the polls .-How is it possible to change this state of Smoot, Uhler & Co. things by running a Democratic candidate? it were most unreasonable to expect it, and it will never be done. Some new alternative must be presented to them.

"The only hope of the country is for both Breckinridge and Douglas to retire and leave the battle to Bell alone. He is the only candidate who can measure arms with the Republican Saladin, and in a free open fight we feel confident of his triumph. If men love party less than country they will yet so

The mendacious stories, circulated, week after week, evidently concocted for partizan purposes, to the injury of Mr. Douglas -such, for instance as his having proposed to put Yancey on his ticket for Vice President; and his being the author of the Le speakers are expected to address the meeting | compton Constitution-and similar tales are actually creating a sympathy for him all over the country. A generous people do not like to see a man so treated.

> We have advices from Rio Janeiro to September 7. The Senate and House of Deputies were about closing their labors. An act to prevent the sale of slaves at auction, and forbiding the separation of slave man and wife, had been introduced and discussed, but was not likely to pass. Prince Alfred, a son of Oueen Victoria, had arrived at Rio, and been visited on board his vessel by the Emperor. The port was generally healthy and free from fever.

The Fair at Winchester was well attended, especially on the second day. It was successful we believe, in every respect. Col. Ware, the President of the Valley Agricultural Society, deserves much credit for his indefatigable exertions.
